A NOVEL OF TWO ERAS

RAFIF

TWO SHORES. ONE FAILING DOOR.

On the ninth day of the occupation, the soldiers come for the seed. Beneath the rubble, Tobious finds something they want even more: a door into a city twenty hundred years away.

Veyr offers him a shield, a legendary blade, and the strength he could not find at home. But its wonders rest on lives its keepers have chosen not to count. Beneath the centuries, the Hollow Ones gather.

While Mariya fights to keep their people alive, Tobious must learn what his new power costs—and who has been made to pay. Saving both shores will demand a choice no sword can make for them.
